Forecast for Tuesday 20 Jul 2021

Weather: Any valley mist quickly lifting after dawn to leave another dry and sunny day. Temperatures rising quickly and feeling hot by the afternoon, especially on south facing slopes. Some cumulus cloud bubbling up by the afternoon but staying above all the summits. A small chance of an isolated shower, possibly with thunder developing during the afternoon. Otherwise, staying dry and clear into the evening and overnight period.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 600m: 100% throughout

Visibility: Locally poor in any valley mist first thing. Otherwise very good with distant hills and landmarks easily visible, although a slight risk of temporary reductions in any showers. A slight heat haze during the afternoon, with this reducing the air clarity a little.

Meteorologist's View

Another very warm day with very high UV levels which will give a high risk of sunburn, and the hot conditions will give a risk of dehydration and heat exhaustion. Remember sun protection and plenty of water if you are heading into the mountains.
